

BUGATTI LAUNCHES OFFICIAL SOCIAL MEDIA CHANNELS AND MOBILE APP

With such a large, self-established and extremely active fan community on social media (first count resulted in more than 500,000 fans on Facebook, 130,000 images on Flickr and more than 700,000 videos on Youtube), Bugatti has decided to approach its fans by establishing its own official online presence on the most popular social media sites.

Dr. Stefan Brungs, Managing Director of Marketing, Sales and Customer Service said, "We owe this to our fans, clients and employees. Communicating via social media has become as normal as using cell phones. So we have to provide them with the latest news on Bugatti in these media channels."

The Bugatti Facebook page provides detailed information on the brand's history as well as on Bugatti's latest activities and participation in key automotive events. Fans will be provided with photos of Bugatti models in various locations around the world: from Rome and Cannes to Napa Valley and L.A., Qatar and Dubai. Special highlights are the stunning automotive piece of art, the Bugatti Veyron 16.4 Grand Sport L'Or Blanc developed together with the Koenigliche Porzellanmanufaktur in Berlin and the Bugatti Veyron 16.4 Super Sport, with which Bugatti's Pilote Officiel Pierre-Henri Raphanel set a new land speed record with 431, 072 km/h in June 2010. Since this spring Bugatti also offers a 1,200hp version of the roadster: the Grand Sport Vitesse, which premiered at Geneva Autoshow 2012. In the following months first Bugatti customers test-drove the Vitesse and then the international media. The Vitesse "Le Ciel Californien" in a unique Bianco and New Light Blue colour scheme generated a lot of attention in August, when it was presented at the world's most important Concours d'Elegance in Pebble Beach. The colour combination has been inspired by the formerly successful Grand Prix car Type 37A owned by the US Talkmaster Jay Leno. The vehicle was instantly sold, but was shown once again at the Volkswagen Group Night in Paris due to the great interest by the media.

On both, iPad or iPhone, platforms, this classic card game allows historic sport coupés to go head-to-head against the world's fastest Veyron sports cars. The Bugatti Auto-Quartett also features cars no longer in production but considered to be living legends in the automotive world. It is available for free on the Apple App store and can be played offline.
